Limagrain

“Through its performance on farm BTS 3325 has demonstrated its reliability over some very testing growing seasons. The variety has good early sown bolting tolerance, combined with a good disease resistance profile and a high sugar content, making it a robust performer. Most importantly, BTS 3325 has shown a good consistency of performance on farm, making it a preferred variety for growers looking for all round security in a sugar beet variety, especially in the earlier drilling situation.”
